

Communication360 with Philip and Lisa Mulford

With all the issues facing couples today, it is important to keep communication lines open. For the past 19 years professional mediator Philip Mulford, a former practicing attorney, has helped couples communicate through divorce and marriage mediation. Now he and his wife, Lisa, are online with their weekly Internet radio talk show Communication360. Available at www.webtalkradio.net for on demand listening or podcast download, Communication360 offers a fresh, straightforward approach to keeping relationships and communication peaceful, constructive, and loving. “The show currently has over 100,000 listeners each month and has both local and national sponsors,” notes Lisa, adding that the pair could not be more pleased to be reaching so many people.

Topics for discussion in March include, “Wisdom from the Bench” with Judge Lynn Toler, host of the syndicated television series Divorce Court; “How One of You Can Bring the Two of You Together;” and “Stress Less: The Physical Effects of Stress on Our Bodies.” For more information on the show, visit www.c360today.com.
